

INSTRUCTIONS FOR FILING A CLAIM FOR LOSS OR DAMAGE

It is our goal to handle your cargo in such a manner that a claim will never need to be filed. However, if despite our high standards and careful handling of your cargo, a loss or damage occurs in transit, following the guidelines below will ensure that the processing of your claim is prompt and efficient.

GUIDELINES TO FILING A CLAIM:

1. VISIBLE LOSS/DAMAGE to goods must be noted clearly and concisely on the delivery receipt at the time of the delivery. Noted means a detailed description of the loss or damage. Do not use general or generic terms in the description, as they do not provide acceptable support for your claim.
2. CONCEALED LOSS/DAMAGE to goods must be reported immediately or no later than (7) days from the receipt of the goods. If the shipment is accepted without noting any damage or loss, R+L Global Logistics will assume the shipment was delivered in good condition. For us to process a claim, you must make the shipping cartons and packing available for inspection. A written claim must be submitted within (14) days from the receipt of the goods.
3. A claim for NON-DELIVERY OF GOODS must be submitted within (120) days from the date of the waybill or after a reasonable time for delivery has elapsed.

A written claim must be submitted within (9) months from the receipt of the goods for ground shipments or (60) days after the date of acceptance for domestic air shipments.

LIMITATIONS OF LIABILITY

HOW YOUR CLAIM WILL BE PROCESSED:

Once your claim is received, we will diligently work to settle your claim as fairly and quickly as possible. R+L Global Logistics will assign a claim number and acknowledge your claim within (30) days. We will pay, deny payment, or make a settlement offer within (120) days after the receipt of your claim. If a resolution cannot be made within (120) days, we will inform you at (60) day intervals of the claim status until which time the claim is settled.
